INTRODUCTION

MemeForce is a unique cross-chain LaunchPad dedicated to launching safe and bullish projects on the Ethereum Mainnet as well as the Binance Smart Chain!

The Primary utility of MemeForce (the LaunchPad) will grant holders of our tokens exclusive access to presales of projects selected for our launchpad.

VISION / SERVICES

The problem with presales that we are aiming to solve

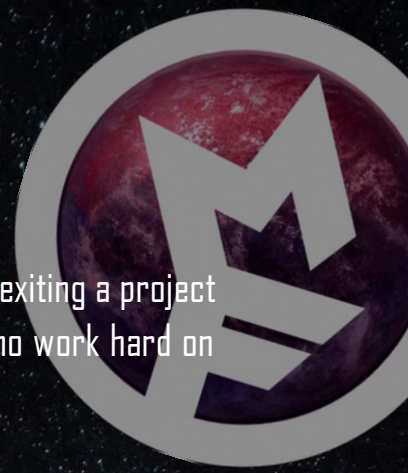

Currently, most BSC presales are filled through whitelisted participants. Whitelist spots can be earned generally in 2 ways:

- (1) Whitelist spots are given to participants of competitions to complete various activities;
- (2) [The vast majority of] Whitelist spots are given to Telegram call channel owners who instruct their subscribers to join a project's group and simply say "this group sent me" in order for them to earn a whitelist spot.

On the Ethereum side of the house, "insiders" are invited to exclusive private/presales before the project is even announced to the public and generally stealth launched – which will greatly benefit early buyers.

Both chains are creating a culture of no community, lack of transparency, & exiting a project immediately on launch. We want to offer an opportunity to project teams who work hard on their development to have increased exposure and longer-term success.

How will we achieve this?

Most major launchpads have token holding requirements to qualify for a presale tier. The fundamental flaw is that acquiring enough tokens to participate is prohibitive and generally only benefits the people that continue to gain riches in these spaces.

The Hallmark of the MemeForce launchpad is that it will be a three-tiered system (Bronze, Silver, & Gold) with each tier having a guaranteed allocation for their respective round.

In order to address the issue around “dumping,” project owners will have the opportunity to require vesting from presale participants. This will incentivize new buyers who have interest in the project (but who did not participate in the presale) to join on launch and not having to worry about being exit liquidity!

Furthermore, there are plenty of “meme” projects with great utility, but, because they are meme coins, getting viewed as a mid-to-long term investment has its challenges. Launching on MemeForce will give projects additional access to marketing, development resources, and a more inquisitive community.

The TEAM

An experienced and trusted Team!

$MEMEFORCE has been developed and put together by the core team behind projects such as DogeZero, KillZill, and Haku-Ryu.

Through our existing network of contacts, launch experience, & development resources, we will secure exclusive access to projects looking for assistance launching that will propel them to the next level!

Upcoming Projects

Without revealing too much right now, we have some exciting projects ready for funding on MEMEFORCE along with several new projects currently completing their whitepapers and technical specs (some in the metaverse space) that will be ready to seek funding in the near future.

We are also opening the invitation for anyone interested in launching cross-chain to contact us and we would be happy to open a discussion around collaboration.
